

CORPORATE PHOTOGRAPHY

shows the human side of your company or your group, beside the formal business portrait and corporate headshots. It is now the main communication tool between the investor and international public relation communications.

If you are looking for corporate photographer, Jola Lipka can turn your ideas into real life. She can provide great corporate portrait photography, headshot or great photojournalism.

Her photography for corporations work takes her not only around Warsaw region, but also across Poland. She is ready to travel and to help you finish your projects in remote locations. Some sample of her corporate photography portfolio will give you a flavor of her work.

Executive Portraiture – portraits usually created for editorial and publicity pieces, brochure covers and other places where the goal is to help your audience know more about you.

The Executive headshot, Business Portrait - formal portraits, generally done in the studio (but it is possible also to set up a studio on location), with a neutral background. Useful for company websites, internal newsletters, trade publications public relations, marketing and sometimes advertising.

Location Photography - photographs produced on location in clients' warehouse, manufacturing space or offices. Very convenient way to create a number of high quality images of the clients' services or processes.
